HAVING received no reply from the regatta committee of the New York Yacht club to his protest against the proposed course marked out for the third of the series of America's cup championship races, on the 12th, Lord Dunraven refused to sail Valkyrie over the route, but with true sportsmanship instead entered the race and crossed the line so as to enable the Defender to make the race, and then withdrew. The race and the trophy were awarded to the American yacht.

DUNRAVEN DECLINED

To Put Valkyrie in the Way of a Third Hearing, but with Sportsmanlike Instinct crossed the Starting Line to Enable Defender to Run and Win the Race, and then Halted Off His Lordship's Reason for Withdrawing.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The America's cup races ended in a fiasco. Lord Dunraven withdrew the Valkyrie immediately after the start, and the Defender sailed over the course alone. The America's cup committee notified C. Oliver Iselin that three races and the cup were awarded the gallant Defender, and the crowds, afloat and ashore cheered the ship that sustained Uncle Sam's supremacy upon the seas and the skipper and crew that sailed her.

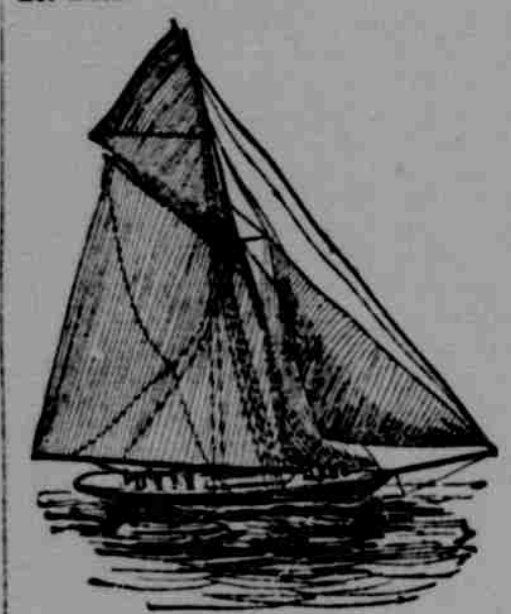

The Defender.

In all probability it will be many years before a British yacht again challenges for the cup. The mishap of last Tuesday and the rather remarkable action of Lord Dunraven yesterday will not further the interests of international sport. In withdrawing he does not charge any special unfairness to his boat, but bases his objections upon the conduct of the attendant fleet on Saturday and Tuesday. Lord Dunraven sent the America's cup committee a strongly worded letter complaining about the action of steamboats and tugs, and stating that he was not willing to continue racing Valkyrie unless a clear course was provided. He added that in his opinion the course should be distant from any large city.

Up to the time for the start for yesterday's race Lord Dunraven had received no reply to his communication. After his withdrawal from the race he said it was his intention to start if he received a reply, but none coming to hand he merely went down and crossed the line to give the other boat a chance to make the race.

That he had no intention of racing yesterday was evident, for he put up no topstall at all. His decision not to race must have been arrived at late Wednesday night, for that day he had Valkyrie dry-docked, her bottom rubbed down, and when she was floated a quantity of pig lead, estimated at four tons, was placed on her hold.

Valkyrie III.

There were rumors that Lord Dunraven would not race yesterday, but when the anxious crowds saw the Valkyrie going down the bay they were content, and as the wind was a good 16-knot breeze from the southwest in the morning, the prospects for a good race were most encouraging. When, however, the Britisher kept over at one end of the line by himself, but did not put up his topstall the crowd concluded that he had a grievance. No steamboats or tugs were in the British boat's way. To windward was a broad expanse of open water. The fleet of excursion steamers and tugs were grouped to the north of the line and not near enough to have any effect upon the wind.

The starting gun was followed by a scene that was novel in international racing. The American yacht, a pyramid of canvas, bore down upon the line. Balloon jib, topsail, spinnaker, mainsail and towering club topstails were drawing well. The British boat, on the other hand, sailed calmly down to the line under lower canvas only, and crossed after Defender. Then the British yacht slowly bore away toward the line and crossed it, only to turn on her heel and point for home. So carefully planned was his withdrawal that his tug, the Millard, was right at the line, ready to tow him into port.

ANOTHER BOND ISSUE

Said to Have Been Practically Decided Upon—Only the Amount to be Issued and the President Thinking the Twenty-Five Millions Will be Sufficient and the Syndicate Insisting Upon the Necessity for Fifty Millions.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Unless there shall be a decided reversal in our foreign trade balance within a very short time, the Cleveland administration will issue another installment of government bonds. Contingent negotiations are now under way, and have reached a point where only the amount of the issue is to be determined.

The subject was discussed by Assistant Secretary Curtis, of the treasury, on Monday. Mr. Curtis sounded the Belmont-Morgan syndicate through Mr. Bacon, of J. P. Morgan & Co., and it is understood that he has laid before the president the result of the Monday conference.

Mr. Morgan is in favor of an issue of $50,000,000 of new bonds should the necessity arise to issue bonds at all. President Cleveland is said to demur at this amount. He would prefer an issue of $25,000,000, believing that the latter amount would be sufficient to relieve the pressure on the gold reserve until the assembling of congress.

It was pointed out by Mr. Morgan on the other hand, that congress could not be depended upon to do anything, and that it would be more advantageous to float $50,000,000 of government paper at once than to make a doubtful transaction of it.

The bonds, if issued, will be placed as far as possible, in Europe.

This is the latest phase of the gold situation as it developed to-day, and is the natural outgrowth of existing conditions.

The syndicate, as such, has reached its limit. It cannot alone and single-handed control the exchange market.

DUN'S COMMERCIAL REVIEW.

A Slight Setback Not Unexpected—Unreliability of Government Crop Reports.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—R. G. Dun & Co., in their weekly review of trade issued to-day, say:

A slight setback, which may mean much or nothing according to the final outcome of the crops, is not unexpected at this season. If the government crop reports were correct, the situation would not be encouraging, but not much confidence is placed in the reduced estimate of corn, none at all in the estimate of wheat, and even the most enthusiastic bulls do not think it worth while to quote the government report as to cotton.

The commercial stocks of cotton, September 1 here and abroad amount to 2,100,638 bales, and domestic mill stocks were 369,618 bales, allowing for a single bale for increase of stocks at southern mills. Prices have settled back a little during the past week notwithstanding the gloomy department report.

If we are to have a large crop of grain and a small crop of cotton, it is natural to infer that manufacturers may find large transactions at the west but not at the south. There is, in fact, a very large demand for goods at the west, and west-bound shipments are unusually large.

The largest output of pig iron ever known, 194,029 tons, is apparently supported by a reduction of 64,000 tons in stocks of pig iron unsold.

The failures during four weeks August amounted to $8,121,500, which $8,863,396 were manufacturing and $4,103,804 of trading concerns; but for the first week of September the aggregate was $1,495,677, of which $655,343 were of manufacturing and $775,334 of trading concerns.

Failures for the week were 187 in the United States against 219 last year, and 34 in Canada against 44 last year.

WILL CONTINUE TO HELP

Although the Bond Syndicate's Obligations were Long Ago Discharged.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan, when asked as to the reported rupture of the government bond syndicate, as indicated by the reappearance of Lazari Freres heavy shippers of gold, said: "The has been no rupture, the syndicate going on just the same, trying to help all it can, but its obligations expire some time ago."

Asked if he did not anticipate a decrease in the supply of bills against cotton and breadstuffs, he replied the affirmative, and expressed surprise that a greater supply of bills was not in the market.

The president of a down town bank which is a member of the syndicate said he thought it was going too far to say that the syndicate had been disrupted, although its members may have concluded not to deposit any more gold at present. On the other hand subtreasury officials express confidence that the impairment of the treasury gold reserve by the export will be made good.
